Hi there, have just uploaded a cartoon I made for Foresight impacts and evaluation. What do you think? Is it funny? eye catching? boring? complicated? What do you understand from it? How about a cartoon series with Mr. Foreman as our hero based on individual stories from our experience? Could be Mr. Foreman traveling to different countries (national foresight exercises)...could also be Mr. Foreman visiting different companies (corporate foresight experiences), could be Mr. Foreman in any other context...this could be a nice way of disguising our experiences without exposing ourselves or our 'clients'... would love your views on all the above...
